

Mount Angel Abbey Library

Mount Angel Abbey Library is primarily a library of theology and the humanities. The collection of over 200,000 volumes is about 30% religion, 10% philosophy and 60% literature, history, social science, etc. There are 5,000 rare books and thousands of current periodicals in various formats. Twenty religion and academic full-text and abstract databases are available to students and faculty via our website, as well as in the library on CD-ROM.

The library catalog is available on the Internet at the following address: <http://opall.wash-id.net>. OPALL in the address stands for Online Private Academic Library Link and represents the holdings of six academic libraries in addition to the Mount Angel Abbey collection: Concordia, Multnomah Bible, Northwest Christian, Warner Pacific, Corban University, Heritage College in Washington, and Western Seminary. The total number of volumes accessible through a search of our catalog amounts to over 500,000.

The library also has a web page that can be reached via the Internet. Type www.mountangelabbey.org and click the library button. The page contains a vast array of resources: information on our collection and services, indexes to periodicals, bibliographies and a list of our newly cataloged books. There are links to other libraries in the state and throughout the country; search engines; Catholic sites and other religious sources; dictionaries, glossaries and numerous reference materials. Proquest religion and EBSCO host, both of which are full-text databases, are available to our students and faculty on the Internet. The library catalog can be reached from our home page by clicking the online catalog button.

Among library services offered to faculty and students are:

- Reference assistance;
- Web access to online databases from offices or dorms;
- Information literacy classes;
- Online reference;
- Interlibrary borrowing of materials not available in our collection;
- Purchase of materials requested;
- Web notification of new books.
